The city council will meet again to-night, no doubt with the same result as before-a deadlock on the Tenth avenue ordinance.

The Women's Christian association meets at 3 o'clock this afternoon at house parlors. Ladies who are not members are invited to attend. A fine residence property fronting on Bayliss' park will be raffled June 1. Tickets are for sale by Smith Bros., agents, at $5 each. Get a home for $5.

Some farmer left his team tied in the rear of Gregory's blacksmith shop Saturday and probably forgot it, as it was found by the police at 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

Special preparations are being made for a fine musical programme at the lay-ing of the corner stone of the new Catho-lic church, which takes place two weeks from yesterday. As long as Alderman Keller's vote is under the control of Alderman Danforth, as Keller has himself admitted, just so long will the Tenth avenue ordinance re-main in statu quo.

It is a question if Danforth will allow Hammer to vote for the Tenth avenue ordinance on Hammer's return from Wisconsin, as it is said that "Uncle Si" holds the club and will continue to use it with good effect for his own dear self. To-morrow 160 Raymond excursionists who have been wintering in California are expected to arrive at the transfer at 4 o'clock. They will leave about 4:30 o'clock over the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific for the cast in the case in the Pacific for the east in a special train. Two women appeared at the city jail yesterday, one of which said she wished to have her husband arrested as he was continually insulting her whenever he met her on the street. She complained of him once before, but after he was arrested she did not appear against him. A great many citizens improved the opportunity yesterday of inspecting the county court house. The stairways are completed, which makes it easy of access. The iron work is now being finished and all departments are being pushed, except the slate contractor, who will put a full force on to-day.

If the rumors that are afloat in regard to Alderman-at-Large Danforth being the man who will not allow keller to vote for the ordinance, even if Kellar wishes to, the citizens should get out en masse and go ahead with their indignation meet-ing. For one alderman to have three votes in his pocket is too much of a monopoly.

After the rain of yesterday morning the dust having been nicely laid, many persons took a drive about the city. Very few private rigs remained in their stables and even less livery turnouts. The numerous pleasant drives in and around Council Bluffs are such that as soon as the Broadway wagon bridge is completed large erowds from Omaha may be expected to take ad-vantage of these fine drives also.

Park Concerts.

The summery weather brings out the annual suggestion in regard to having a series of outdoor concerts in Bayliss park during the summer season. The BEE inaugurated these summer concerts several seasons ago, giving the initial one at its own expense. Others followed, and the own expense. Others followed, and the citizens have had numerous enjoyable evenings as a result. Now the Nonpareil comes out with a spring editorial urging a series of park concerts. A surer way than urging others to pay for the music is for the Nonpariel to set the example this season, as the Bee has before. Various merchants and private citizens will doubtless follow with the donation of one concert each for the public enjoyment. It is a much more satisfactory way than passing around the hat.

SERVICE ON EASTER SUNDAY

Flowers, Music and Eloquence Pay Tribute to the Day.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

The Council Bluffs Wheelmen and Their Plans for the Season-The Easter Rabbit Amuses the Children-Personal Mention.

"He Is Risen." Yesterday being Easter the churches of the city, without regard to denominational peculiarities or whimsical creeds, observed the day by more or less of a change from the usual services. There were large congregations at all these places of worship. The day opened with a refreshing rain, laying the dust which had been so annoyingly whirled into the eyes of everybody for several days be-fore. The sun peoped out just in time to simile upon the new bonnets as they were finding their way for the first time to church. In almost every church society there had been enthusiastic workers busy decorating pulpits and altars with flowers and plants, while preachers and singers had been preparing carefully for features of merit in the services of the

With the Episcopalians Easter is observed with peculiar zest. This church was elaborately and tastefully decorated, and the services were of a specially teresting nature. The church was filled at the morning service, and the congre-gation was evidently delighted and doubtless profited. The rector, Rev. Mr. Mackey, preached a sermon appropriate to the day. The floral decorations were beautiful in their details and the general effect was very pleasing. There were numerous floral designs arranged with out flowers, a crown, a star, cross, etc. Several of the memorial windows were finely decorated. That in memory of Dr. McKune was especially so. Among its decorations was a large pillow. The musical features of the service had been prepared with great care also, and were well carried out by the chorus choir under charge of Prof. Lipfert. Following the morning service was the holy com-munion, and the children also had special services appropriate to the day.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH. This was not elaborately decorated, but about the altar numerous plants and flowers were tastefully arranged. The pastor, Rev. Df. Cooley, preached an ex-cellent sermon from I Corinthians, xy, 1-4. The burden of his discourse was to set torth clearly some of the results of the resurrection of Christ. One was that it proved the fullness and efficiency of his redemption of man, a third that it brought life and immortality to light. That it proved also that man's future life will be full and complete, a life of body as well as of spirit. It proved that the fut-ure life will be eternal, beginning at the new birth and continuing forever more, In closing the reverend speaker showed how the resurrection of Christ was shaping the world's history, and Christ as a living force was still ruling, and that it was not a dead Christ who was being worshiped. In the evening Dr. Cooley gave a forcible, practical sermon to young men, on "The temptation of Joseph." He dwelt upon the ease with which young men away from home, as Joseph was, would yield to temptations that they would resist if surrounded by home influences. As Joseph called this "a great sin against God," so sin should be called by its right name, and spoken of plainly. There should be no dallying with sin, but when tempted, one should flee from it.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH The floral decorations at the Presbyterian church were very tine and consisted of a large cross of calla lines, a cluster of white roses, a floral star, Easter lilies and potted flowers; all arranged about the pulpit. The choir consisted of Miss Anna Merkel, contralto; Miss Barbara Merkel, soprano; S. C. Noble, basso; J. E. Atchison, tenor. The musical programme consisted of the Te Deum, "I Know that My Redemer Liveth," solo, Miss Barbara Merkel; offertory, "The Palms," duet, the Misses Merkel.

The congregation was a very large one and the sermon by the new pastor, Rev. Stephen Phelps, D. D., is pronounced one of the finest ever delivered in this city. He spoke apparently without manuscript and held the audience closely throughout his entire discourse. His closing was a grand climax and there were probably net a dozen people in the congregation who were not moved to congregation who were not moved to tears at some of the emotional passages in the sermon. He took as his text Matt. xxvii, 7: "And go quickly, and tell His disciples that He is risen from the dead, and, behold, He goeth before you into Galillee; there shall ye see Him: lo, I have told you."

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER.

At the Catholic church there was an extra large attendance at both the 6, 8, 9 and 10:30 o'clock masses. The attraction and 10:30 o'clock masses. The attraction of the day was the special musical feature at the 10:30 o'clock services. The choir was composed of Mrs. J. O'Neill, organist; Mrs. A. Darraugh, Miss Jennie Keating, Miss Sophia Gerner, soprano; Miss Gray, Miss Katie Throll, Miss Delia Dohany, alto; J. McWilliams, E. Ingolsby, Henry and Charles Paschel, basso; assisted by F. W. S. Forrest, tenor. The offertory was called "Jesu Dei Vivi," which was very finely rendered. The which was very finely rendered. The programme included Concone's mass. having solos, duets, trios and quartettes; also Peter's "Grand Magnificat" and "Tantumergo," quartette by Rossi.

"Tantumergo," quartette by Rossi.

BROADWAY METHODIST CHURCH.

There was a large attendance at the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning. The choir was composed of Miss Matie Palmer, Miss Lou Smith, Colonel Tulleys and R. J. Mc-Bride, and the anthem "Thou Hast a Mighty Arm" was rendered in a highly pleasing and successful manner. The floral decorations were very fine and ornamented either side of the pulpit. Rev. E. D. McCreary, the pastor, took as his text Rev. I, 18: "I am He that liveth and was dead; and, behold, I am alive forever more, amen; and have the keys of hell and of death." Also John XIV, 19: "Yet a little while, and the world seest me no more; but ye see Me; because I live, ye shall live also." The discourse was listened to with marked attention and was a very fine one. An Easter missionary service was held in the Sunday school rooms at 12:30 o'clock which consisted of songs, offerings and recitations. In the evening the Ladies' Foreign Missionary society held anniversary exercises. BROADWAY METHODIST CHURCH.

sary exercises. THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The interior of this church was as tastefully and elaborately decorated as any in the city. Across the base of the organ, just above the keyboard, and extending along the whole width was a broad wine-colored strip, upon which appeared in large silvered letters of old English, "He Is Risen." The altar rail was almost hidden in a profusion of blooming plants and green vines. On each side of the organ was a large evergreen tree, and at each side of the church in front was a stand of flowers and plants. At the front end of the middle aisle stood a cross of rude wood, and one of the most pleasing features of the service was the manner of decorating it. The pastor, Rev. G. W. Crofts, made a few remarks pointing out the significance of the cross and of the flowers. Children then came marching up the absle bearing cut flowers, which were skillfully placed THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

in position by Mr. Dan A. Sudd, so that in a few moments the rude cross was transformed to one of rare beauty. The choir then sang the following, which was written for the occasion by the pas-

Behold, the cross of rugged wood
Now frowning darkly on thy sight;
'Twas thus the cross of Calvary stood,
Whereon was nailed the Prince of Light;
The Lamb of God's eternal love,

The Glorious Saviour from above.

On such a cruel cross He died
That sinful man might be torgiven,
And to His own great soul allied
And fitted for the bliss of heaven;
Oh. Christ! was ever love like Thine,

So pure and perfect and divine?

And now, behold, the cross with flowers
Adorned by Infant hands so sweet;
Bright tokens of the joyous hours
We spend while sitting at His feet,
And learning there the precious thought
That life by Christ's dear blood was bought.

The musical part of the service was especially fine. Mrs. Roff, who has one of the sweetest voices in the city, sang a solo, and the choir, consisting of herself, with Miss Josselyn, Mr. Westcott and Mr. McDermid, gave some special anthems. The organ voluntary was very fine. The pastor preached a short sermon, not over lifteen minutes. It was full of appropriate thoughts, in well full of appropriate thoughts, in well chosen words. An Easter service of the Sunday school followed, consisting of re-sponsive scriptural readings and songs.

Whirling on Wheels. In view of the fact that bicycle riding is so popular this season in Council Bluffs, a BEE man yesterday questioned on of the members of the new association, which is named the "Council Bluffs Ramblers." He was very enthusiastic over the prospects for the bicycle riders in this city, and was under the impression that as the season advances the number of riders would increase materially. There are twenty-three charter members of this new association and several new applications are to be acted upon at the next meeting, one of them being a gentleman from Omaha. The association is composed strictly of amateurs, the definition of which in this case refers to those who have never earned a livelihood by the bicycle, never raced for money or having ridden against a professional. It is very probable that this new organization will have a road race some time during the season; under the rules of the association they are to have at least one run during each month. These runs will no doubt be from thirty to fifty miles each. The road race will be for a medal or something of that sort, as they are not allowed to race for money prizes under any circumstances. The bicycles cost all the way from $70 to $150 each, the average cost of those in use at present in this city being $110. The road races will not be to test the velocity with which the riders can send their machines along, but as a test of endurance. The Bicycle club has made application to the Council Bluffs Rowing association for a part of the building which they are to erect on Lake Manawa, in which to place their bicycles when they reach the lake. Should the Rowing association fail to allow this privilege, for which the Bicycle club proposes to pay, then the "Ramblers" will build a house of their own on the lake. A bicycle, under a large number of legal decisions, has the same right to the road as a loaded buggy or other vehicle and the United States treasury has de cided that a bicycle is a carriage and im-poses the same duties as on a carriage. People on the country roads and on the streets are under the impression that a bicycle has no business there and should make way for other vehicles, while in fact, through courtesy and custom, bug-gies, etc., should give the bicycle the smooth road instead of crowding it into the rut. Considerable talk has been indulged in about the bicycle frightening horses, while in fact it is usually the driver and not the horse that is most frightened. A sensible bicycler, if he sees that a horse is becoming frightened, can easily step off his machine till the horse passes.
